

The part-whole model represents how numbers can be split into parts. When using this model it supports your child to see the relationship between the whole number and the component parts. The 'whole' is the circle where both lines connect to it (in this case the circle at the top), the 'parts' are the 2 circles joined to the 'whole' with one line (in this case the 2 circles at the bottom).