

Today you are writing the end of a story and is just as important as the beginning.

Here are some ways you could make your ending interesting.

You could remember something from the story.

I shall never forget the special friends I have made.

You could ask a question

I wonder, will I ever go back there again?

or

That was a great adventure, but where could I go next?

You could miss or find something from your story

Back at last! Although, I will miss the amazing adventures I have had.

Did it really happen? Yes, I have the _____ in my pocket.

You could be left feeling a certain way.

I have never been so frightened in my life, I shan't be able to sleep with my light off for weeks.