

English-Castles

Where possible today we would like you to try and find answers to the questions you thought of yesterday about castles. These can be recorded in your books, or you might even like to record your questions and answers like a short interview where a parent or sibling asks you your question and you give the answer.

Here are some sites that may help you, if you are able to access the internet with support.

You may also try typing your question into your search engine but may need some help to find the answer.

If you are unable to answer your question you might like to write down a few facts you found of interest instead.
